College Continues

Handsome Jake wins hearts with his deep, soulful eyes. The instructors at Canine University appreciate his serious demeanor and concentration as he continues practicing about 40 cues and advanced skills. Our experts observe Jake closely, looking to place him in the perfect career. To match a working dog with just the right handler requires art and science! Jake loves all the attention and exercise he gets during training outings, which will continue until his future is settled.

Jake shows super self-control while in harness, and his instructors enjoy his friendly, willing-to-please personality. He knows that when the harness comes on, it's time to focus and show off his talents. And when the harness comes off, this good boy loves to play and run like the fun-loving Labrador he is.

A LOOK BACK

Jake's come so far! He's learned a LOT on this journey. It's often fun and games for puppies in training, and Jake gives his best effort all along the way. What a loveable pup!

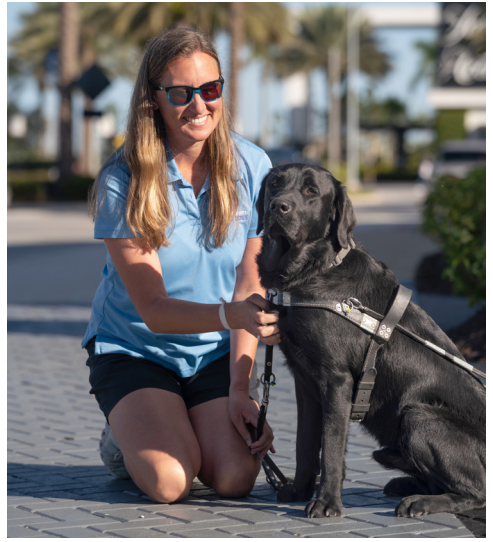

Growing up with loving volunteers, puppy raisers, and instructors gives Jake a solid foundation.

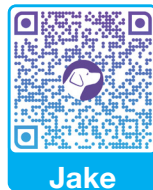

Out in the Big World

Jake pays careful attention to his instructor and always tries to please. When she takes him to a big, potentially distracting place like a shopping mall, he displays good form walking alongside her and adjusting to her pace and pull.

There are so many new places to explore and experiences to try when you're a curious pup out in the world. Jake safely crosses streets full of traffic. He walks confidently over bridges with unusual underfootings. He rides up and down elevators. And he navigates a variety of curbs without hesitation. As a calm and intelligent dog, Jake may become an invaluable, special gift for someone who needs independence and security. We don't yet know Jake's best future, so watch your mail for a letter and photo revealing his ultimate career!
